Welcome to the 2012 Awards and Archival Screening Night

Tonight we will honor four AMIA members for their professional achievements. Each of these honorees have made significant contributions to the field and to AMIA: The Silver Light Award to Susan Dalton, The William S. O'Farrell Volunteer Award will be presented to Janice Simpson, and we will honor Steve Leggett and Alicia Kubes with two inaugural awards this year – the Close-Up Award and the Alan Stark Award, respectively.

Then, for the first time Archival Screening Night is Looking Back, giving new members (or long term members who haven't attended every conference) an opportunity to see what has been screened and allow perennial attendees to celebrate their past accomplishments.

Tomorrow evening at the Westin Hotel, ASN Presents: The Magnificent 16 – A screening session of 16mm favorites from past Archival Screening Nights as suggested by you! Films will be shown in their entirety.

Thank you to the ASN Screening group for the hard work (and long hours) it takes to put on Archival Screening Night. Thank you to the AMIA Awards Committee (Bob Schumacher, Janice Simpson, Pam Wintle, Barbara Humphries, Lee Shoulders and Bob Sky) for their work honoring our colleagues tonight.

2012 AMIA Awards Honorees

Each year, AMIA awards recognize outstanding professional achievement in and contributions to the field of moving image archiving. Join us as we honor this year's Awards ...

AMIA Silver Light Award

Susan Dalton

To recognize her outstanding career achievement in moving image preservation, the 2012 Silver Light Award is presented to Susan Dalton.

William S. O'Farrell Volunteer Award

Janice L. Simpson

To recognize her significant contributions to AMIA and the field, the William S. O'Farrell Volunteer Award is presented to Janice Simpson.

The Close-Up Award

Stephen C. Leggett

To recognize his contributions and his deep commitment to the work of the moving image archives profession and archival collections, the inaugural Close-Up Award is presented to Steve Leggett.

The Alan Stark Award

Alicia Kubes

To recognize her significant contribution through her efforts in project management that contributes to, and supports, the work of moving image archives and the operations of AMIA, the inaugural Alan Stark Award is presented to Alicia Kubes.

11. Title: "Jenkins Orphanage Band"

Format: 35mm – Sound

Institution: University of South Carolina, Moving Image Research Collections (originally submitted by the Orphan Film Symposium)

30 Members of the Jazz band perform on a street in Charleston, South Carolina. This outtake is the band's only known recording. Print made by Film Technology.

Original Conference

2002 – Boston, MA

12. Title: Now Explosion

Format: DVD – Sound

Institution: University of Georgia Media Archives & Peabody Awards Collection

"In the Year 2525" (Zagar & Evans). "The Now Explosion" was an early music video tv show produced in Atlanta in 1970 as a 2-hour syndicated weekend program. We acquired the show's remaining original 16mm raw footage and several 2" video show tapes in 2002. This reel is a good representation of the type of filmed interpretation of Top 40 music created for the show.

Original Conference

2002 – Boston, MA

13. Title: Stepping into Space

Format: 35mm – Silent

Institution: Library and Archives Canada

Short film showcasing the aerial daredevils 'The Black Cats', who perform stunts at 3,000ft followed by a triple parachute jump back to Earth.

Original Conference

2001 – Portland, OR

8. Title: Queens at Heart

Format: Betacam SP – Sound

Institution: Outfest / UCLA Film and Television Archive

Original Conference 2010 – Philadelphia, PA

Comedy Short, eye popping musical fun, Technicolor three strip!

Original Conference 2002 – Boston, MA

The WGBH Archives' collection is the largest of any Public Television Station in the United States. Most earlier programs exist solely on 2" videotape, which is rapidly nearing the end of its shelf life. In the summer of 1992, WGBH has an opportunity to select a small sampling of some of these programs in an effort to assess their condition. The reel to be seen tonight contains clips from The French Chef: Chicken Breasts, featuring Julia Child, and A Conversation with James Baldwin.

Original Conference 1992 – San Francisco, CA

1.	Title:	Welcome San Francisco Movie Makers - excerpt
	Format:	Betacam SP – Sound
	Institution:	San Francisco Media Archive

Original Conference 2002 – Boston, MA

This 1928 film was shown in the first public demonstration of a successful color stock for amateur movie-makers, a lenticular system which preceded the introduction of Kodachrome by seven years. It has only recently been possible to duplicate it, retaining the color.

Original Conference 2006 – Anchorage , AK

3. Title: Celebrate '77
Format: DVD - Sound
Institution: University of MD Broadcasting Archives

In this clip from Celebrate '77, Steve Martin and his musical mentor, John Mc Euen of the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, show how Siamese twins might play the banjo. This was a live, local New Year's Eve Special, broadcast on public station KETC in St. Louis.

Original Conference 2010 – Philadelphia, PA

4. Title: Best of Sabucat
Format: 35mm & Digital Betacam – Sound
Institution: UCLA Film and Television Archive & Academy Film Archive

Marx Brothers clip and other rarities from the Sabucat Collection, now at the UCLA Film and Television Archive and Academy Film Archive.

5. Title: Video Preservation at Culpeper
Format: Digital Betacam – Sound
Institution: Library of Congress

After considerable curatorial deliberation, the Library of Congress presents (on tape) a clip from the first 3/4" U-Matic digitized at the recently opened Packard Campus in Culpeper, Virginia. We hope the next 249,999 U-Matics will prove as scintillating. The clip is offensive only to those who worship the original work from which it derives.

Original Conference 2007 – Rochester, NY

6. Title: Shaw and Lee – 'The Beau Brummels'
Format: 35mm – Sound
Institution: UCLA Film and Television Archive

In honor of Preservation Officer Bob Gitt and the 80th anniversary of Vitaphone, the UCLA Film & Television Archive presents the deadpan comedy stylings of the eccentric vaudevillian duo, Al Shaw and Sam Lee.

Original Conference 2006 – Anchorage, AK

7. Title: Bobcat A Go-Go (1968)
Format: DVD – Sound
Institution: Archives Center, National Museum of American History

This promotional film, made for the Bobcat Company by Flint Communications, demonstrates the versatility of the Bobcat loader. Clearly influenced by the period, the film juxtaposes the dance moves of a scantily-clad go-go dancer with stop-motion footage of a Bobcat loader.

Original Conference 2009 – St. Louis, MO
